“ Since Aunt Ardy "moved to town" we were able to spend more time with her. We would attend the theater productions at North Crawford High School. She thoroughly enjoyed every single production, but I would say Grease was her favorite! She also enjoyed the simple things - going for a ride in the country, going to the Unique Cafe for coffee, etc. She also entertained us telling about her adventures with her good friend Molly.
We will miss Aunt Ardy very much.

“ I'm so grateful and honored I had the opportunity to meet Ardy. Every Christmas her eyes would light up seeing Clarkson (our 100 lb. Ridgeback). I was always worried Clarkson would knock her down, but she always assured me she loved dogs and enjoyed him. I'm sad that she didn't get to meet our newest addition Mattis, but know she would have enjoyed him just as much. We will miss you Ardy!

“ I remember many good times when Aunt Ardy & Uncle Lloyd came to town to do their weekly grocery shopping. They'd stop at Mom's for coffee and we'd all laugh and talk about nothing important. Their companionship gave Mom much comfort in the years after Dad died. When Ardy lived on the farm, she gathered hickory nuts and gave out baggies full of nutmeats. What a time-consuming job for her and what a treat for us. Our nuts never made it into a recipe -- Larry & I would eat them right out of the bag or on ice cream. In recent years, I loved going out for breakfast or lunch with her and other family members. Ardy had the greatest laugh. We will miss her.
